

GED® TESTING SERVICE STATEMENT ON RESPONSIBILITIES OF TEST TAKERS AND OWNERSHIP OF TESTS, SCORES AND DATA

The American Council on Education® owns the GED Tests, the questions, and answers. If you are taking the GED Tests, you must agree to keep the questions and answers secret. You may not get any help from anyone except the GED Examiner. You must return all tests and other items to the GED Examiner at the end of your test.

You must not disclose test questions to anyone. If you do, it may be a violation of law, and you may be prosecuted and your test scores may be canceled.

The places that give the GED Tests may use GED testing information and may share that information with GED Testing Service®.

GED TESTING SERVICE PRIVACY POLICY

GED Testing Service understands that some information about you is private, like your name, address, ID number, date of birth, and test scores. GED Testing Service will not give out the private information without your permission.

You can tell GED Testing Service whether or not GED Testing Service may contact you for follow-up research.

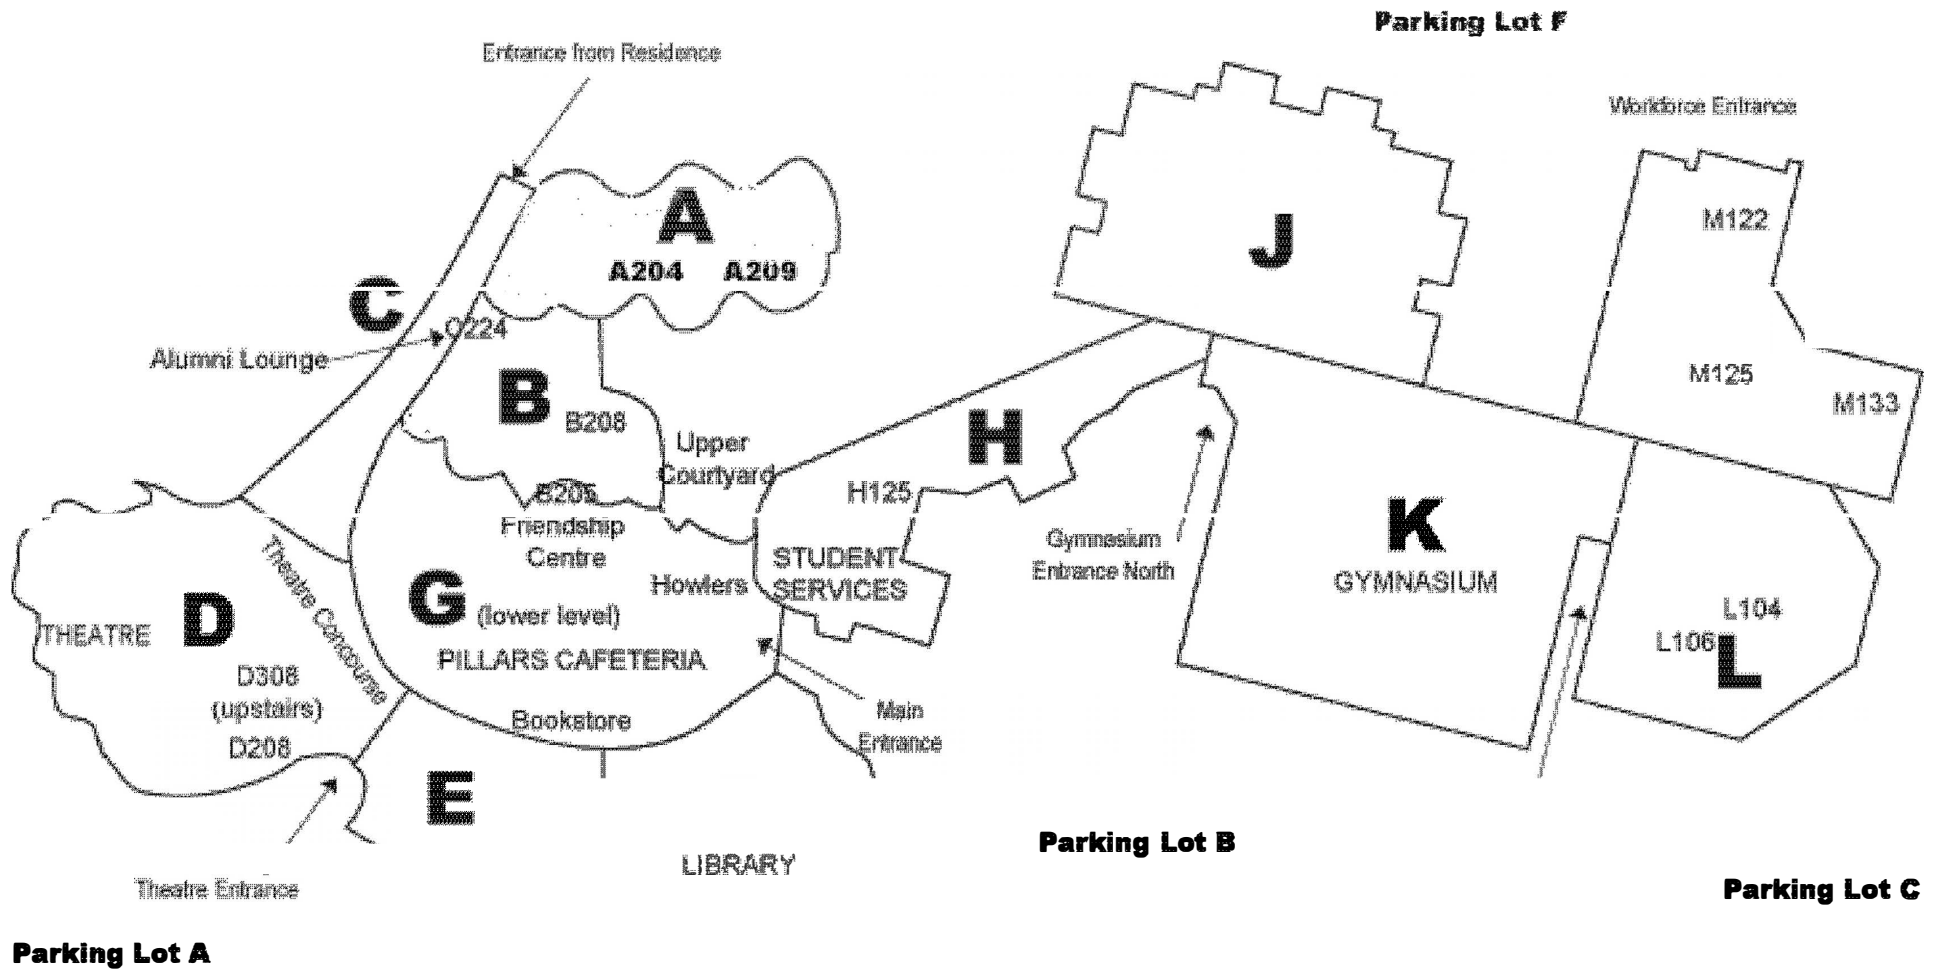

GED Testing Service does allow some research about the GED Tests and test-takers, but does not allow your private information to be identified in the research.

Sometimes the law requires GED Testing Service to provide private information, and sometimes GED Testing Service has to investigate fraud or other violations using some private information.

The place where you take the GED Tests also has some rights to your private information.

Errors can occur, but GED Testing Service tries its best to protect your private information.

You may ask questions about the GED Testing Service policies at ged@ace.nche.edu or 202-939-9490.
